DO ESTADO DE MINAS GERAIS

| Minas Gerais, a strategic region in Brazil

Minas Gerais is the second most populated state of Brazil, with an estimated population of 20 million people. With a history extremely connected to mining, agriculture and coffee cultivation, it has diversified its economic production source and it also has grown exponentially in the sectors of service provision and in the sectors of industry and metallurgy - factors that sustain the position of third most prosperous state in the country.

In 2014, its capital - Belo Horizonte - was elected the best capital of Brazil in socioeconomic development, on issues such as education, health, finances and safety (Delta Economics & Finances - Revista América Economia Brasil).

To improve even more a state in constant development, the offer of qualified and free of charge undergraduate courses becomes crucial to promote the economic activities of the state. With this purpose, Minas Gerais Government created the Universidade do

Estado de Minas Gerais (Minas Gerais State University) in 1989.

| A University that values the diversity

In a scenery of world globalization, a University should be opened to values, cultures and experiences that goes beyond its boundaries to be able to develop its mission in plenitude.

Expanding the horizons, we are capable to take possession of the richness of the plurality, which is necessary for facing and solving the challenges we face at the production of innovation and knowledge.

The short existence of our University, that recently completed 25 years, allow us independence – which is an attribute of the youth – to pursuit - in experiences and practices of the best institutions of world reference - paths that will lead us to build a solid institution, with its own identity.

On the other hand, it also give us the rich and selfless possibility of exchanging and sharing, that are implicit in every act of cooperation and expression of nations, lands and different cultures.

We are proud of our institution - which is public, free of charge and has a high quality education - to be present in 17 cities in Minas Gerais State, where we can realize and interact with identities that reflect our own multiple and plural reality.

Thereby, we assume a position that goes beyond the transmission of knowledge, carrying expectancy of better days to each region served through the insertion of our students in a labor market even more demanding and competitive in a global level.
